YOUTH'S SKULL REPORTED FRACTURED BY THROWN BRICK

PATTERSON ASSAILS BIG BOND ISSUE IN CULLMAN ADDRESS

Mayor Introduces The Speaker To Large County Crowd

CRITICISM GIVEN HIGHWAY CHIEF

Points Out What He Terms Deceptive Propaganda

Gov. A. G. Patterson, president of Alabama Public Service Commission and candidate for governor, made his first speech in Cullman county Saturday afternoon at the Cullman city court house. Mr. Patterson's speaking was advertised throughout the county and a large number of persons came in to hear him. He was introduced by Hon. M. L. Robinson, mayor of Cullman, who paid high compliment to Mr. Patterson's record as president of the public service commission, his ability as a business man and emphatically endorsed "pay-as-you-go" plan for continuing highway construction.

Mr. Patterson spoke dealing with issues in the campaign. He discussed his five points in his usual vigorous and concise manner. He emphasized public education as the most important issue before the people, deeming that he was the only candidate for governor who had pointed out the necessity of specifically sources in which there could be equitably located four million dollars annually for additional funds for public education. He declared that of this fund one and one-half million dollars should be set aside as an equalization fund, to be distributed among counties of the state in such manner as to provide, as nearly as possible, an equality of opportunity for all the white children of the state. He declared that this fund would be sufficient to guarantee full terms in public school of the state, to provide better trained teachers and salaries and better school equipment.

Mr. Patterson dealt with the highway situation in his usual vigorous, patriotic manner. He criticized with vehemence the methods now being pursued by Chairman Rogers and his associates, declaring that they were endeavoring to subvert the electorate of the state, promising them roads and bridges which he never intended to build. He declared that surveying parties were being employed in large numbers to make surveys in various parts of the state, to induce the people to believe that he would build roads which he knew never would be built. Mr. Patterson also further declared that Chairman Rogers had used to build bridges over the Tennessee River, in Jackson county, between Whitesburg and Whitesburg, upon condition that the people would build for C. H. McDowell and the seven million dollar bond issue. He further declared that large bills had been placed at nearly every ferry in the state, bearing the name of the state.

New Story Now Pleasing Hosts of Daily Readers

That the new story, "Broken Hearts of Hollywood," is going to be more than ordinary reading matter is seen today in the number of people already reading the story along the passengers on the Los Angeles Limited is a mysterious story of a girl passenger of surpassing beauty. At Centerville, pretty age in the Valley of Iowa, the train stops for water. While exercising on the platform, the beauty notices what is evidently a wedding party send-off. Unaccountably thrilled when the glance meets the fine eyes the girl slips in regarding her train and falls into the arms of the handsome bridegroom. Now go on with the story, in it today on page two.

HOMES ARE SOUGHT FOR MORGAN GIRLS

Club Committees Busy Canvassing Cities To House Girls

Committees from six Federated clubs today were busy canvassing the cities, locating homes in which more than 150 Morgan County girls will be welcomed during the Morgan County Short Course planned for the coming week. The course is offered under the auspices of the Federated Women's clubs of the cities, co-operating with the Morgan County Home Demonstration department.

The gathering of young ladies here is certain to be well received in the cities, people realizing that many of the visitors have not yet seen the advantages offered here. The sessions will be held three days, next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at Decatur High School, according to announcement made today by Mrs. L. P. Troup. Various civic clubs in the cities have been asked to aid the Federated clubs in making the meeting a success and aid has been promised to the ladies in any effort they may require. Tentative program for the gathering is unusually interesting including trips to practically every point of interest here.

Make Plans Now For Daily's Party

Arrangements for rapid assembling of information regarding the outcome of the races are going forward. A leased telegraph wire of the Associated Press will bring to The Daily the returns from other sections of the state, while direct telephone wires will bring returns to the Daily from this immediate section.

"Great Commotion" As Men Drew Their Wages

SAW ONE MAN WITH BIG ROLL

Anybody With Fund Could Carry Pittsburg

(Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 12—"Pay day" at political headquarters in Pittsburgh was like a run on a bank, the senate committee was told as it began to go into details of the Pennsylvania primary today.

Frederick R. Beutel, a supporter of Governor Pinchot, in his unsuccessful campaign for the senatorial nomination, testified that both at the Pepper-Fisher and Vane headquarters in Pittsburgh there always was great commotion when campaign watchers and workers were drawing their wages.

At the Pepper-Fisher headquarters in the hotel Henry, he said "the men were paid in cash and there was much activity on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday." He watched the paying off, he said, and estimated between 200 and 300 men were paid each hour.

"I saw one man come out with a roll, apparently of $10 bills, which was three inches in diameter. He said it was all he could hold in his hand. He added he thought the paying off was being done by S. J. Topley, treasurer of the Pepper-Fisher organization continued, there was a 'great time' in Pittsburgh.

One Wednesday morning, the witness clambering 'at Vane headquarters, caused by 'people clambering for money."

The line of payees there was three deep, he said, and extended for 150 feet in the street outside the building. The Vane system of paying off was "not so efficient" and did not work quite so fast as the "Pepper-Fisher headquarters," he said.

"Like a run on a bank?" asked Chairman Reed.

"Oh, yes."

Beutel, who was chairman of the speakers committee at Pinchot's headquarters was preceded on the stand by another Pinchot worker, P. Henry Walnut, in charge of Philadelphia headquarters, who put into the record a statement showing receipts of $28,397, with expenditures of $24,171 by the committee in Philadelphia.

Some of the more important expenditures listed were $7,200 for watchers; $3,680 for salaries; $3,152 for printing and $1,000 for meetings.

Colonel Robert Glendinning of Philadelphia, also testified how he had organized a committee to support Senator Pepper and had put on it every one he thought was good for a $1,000 contribution.

Beutel told the committee he knew of no case where an offer outright of $10 was made for a vote, but said "they hire you as a watcher." He then described for the committee "the Pittsburgh cheater" a very low type of individual, who is paid to "watch" for one candidate and then votes for another.

"Then you have a code of morals in Pittsburgh," Senator Reed remarked. "When you are bought you ought to stay bought."

Then the witness expressed the opinion that anybody with sufficient money could carry Pittsburgh. He said he had heard that prices had been placed on certain trades—that they could be carried for anybody for certain sums "by buying the ward leaders."

"I'd say the balance of power can be bought in Pittsburgh," Beutel added.

"Bought this time wasn't it," asked Senator Reed.

"I am thoroughly convinced of it. I estimated approximately 20,000 men got money at the Vane and Pepper headquarters. Many of these were drawing the pay for the others, so I think the total might run to 50,000."

She died in a few minutes after she had been taken to the hospital and before she could tell of the accident.

The automobile belonged to C. F. Sheldon, New York city, a freshman at Yale who said he had let Kopperl his roommate, take the car last night.

NINON D'ENCLOS, it is said, was sufficiently beautiful at seventy to be troubled with admirers. In fact, her own son fell in love with her at that age, but did not know he was her son and committed suicide when he learned the facts.

To keep your looks past middle age is important presumably. But to preserve mental fire and talent into old age is more important. Madame Melba, seventy-six years old, wept as she bade farewell on the stage at Covent Garden in London to a crowd.

Many of whom had waited in line twenty-two hours to see her for the last time.

Cullman Girl Takes Poison For Pills In Tragic Mistake

MISS ALENE FISCHER IN GRAVE CONDITION AT HOME SATURDAY

Valedictorian of Class of 1926 Critically Ill From Poison

TRAGEDY SHOCK TO MANY FRIENDS

Family Is Well Known Throughout This Entire Section

Miss Alene Fischer, valedictorian of the 1926 graduating class at Cullman is in a serious condition at her home in Cullman Saturday as a result of having taken poison by mistake.

Miss Fischer's condition Saturday was described as "critical" although hope is held for her recovery. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fischer, well known residents of Cullman and the family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends throughout this section of North Alabama.

About two o'clock yesterday afternoon Miss Fischer, at her home, went to a medicine chest to obtain some pills. Through mistake she obtained poison.

Within a few moments medical attention was given the unfortunate girl and every effort was put forth to clear her system of the insidious poison but today her condition still was grave.

Miss Fischer is one of Cullman's most attractive and talented young women. She finished her high school career this term as ranking member of the graduating class. She has hundreds of friends in Cullman county who were much concerned over her condition Saturday.

The king and queen and a great audience gathered for her farewell. And on the radio ten millions listened to hear her last songs, her good-bye speech and her sobs of gratitude. That was better than Ninon D'Enclos' farewell, although that lady lived to eighty-six and was consulted by the great Moliere because of her sound literary judgment.

The King of Korea's body is to be buried and 30,000 people will see it. Pallbearers stay up all night to start at four in the morning, and this is the interesting item: "They are permitted to gamble that they may keep awake."

They are sorry the king is dead, but that wouldn't keep them awake. They might talk to others, about ghosts, demons and other things in line twenty-two hours to see her for the last time.

JOINT DEBATE IS BELIEVED A DRAW

Kilby and Bankhead In Last Meeting of Their Series

(Associated Press) TUSCUMBIA, Ala., June 12—Thomas E. Kilby and John H. Bankhead moved to the Colbert County capital today to continue their joint debate.

Kilby had the opening and closing arguments. Another throng of voters was on hand to participate in the campaign activities, which reached the acme of interest as result of the word battle between the two senatorial aspirants.

As in the two previous meetings, Kilby slashed right and left at Bankhead, charging he had affiliated in recent years as attorney for the Alabama Power company, while Bankhead continued his attacks on Kilby's record as governor and Kilby's attitude toward Henry Ford.

Kilby mentioned Bankhead's resignation as a member of the board of trustees of the University of Alabama saying, "Bankhead loved his alma mater and the boys and girls of the state, but he must love coal operators more."

Kilby said Bankhead didn't mention education in his keynote speech.

Bankhead assailed Kilby with greater vim than he had previously displayed.

At the close of the debate it was doubtful in the minds of political observers if either had won or lost many votes by controversy.

SYNOPSIS
Among the passengers on the Los Angeles Limited is a mysterious, solitary girl traveller of surpassing beauty. The train enters a beautiful valley in Iowa where the girl, an orphan, experiences an uncanny feeling of being "at home," although she has never seen the place before. At Centipede, pretty village in the valley, the train stops for water. While exercising on the platform the lone beauty witnesses what is evidently a wedding party send-off. Unaccountably thrilled when her glance meets the eyes of the girl traveller slips in re-boarding and falls backward into the arms of the handsome bridegroom.

Her heels were on a top step, her head level with a lower one, and there was an alluring suggestion of pinkish cream where her brief skirt had slipped back from the knees of her rigidly outspread legs. Yet, despite the awkward strain of her position, her tense, affrighted body felt so comfortably safe in the strong arms that had caught her that the lone girl traveller aborted the scream in her throat and laughed shyly instead.

She became conscious, while being gently set right side up again and steadied on Aloysius' footstool, of something more than passing concern in the darkest, deepest, sweetest pair of male eyes which had ever caused her romantic heart to skip a beat. She was conscious, too—ominously so—of a hostile flickering of jealous feminine eyes. Cat green eyes! Oh, brides will be so silly about their newly caught fish!

"Thank you!" the strange girl murmured, as sedately as she could with an insufficiency of breath, straight into the handsome eyes. But there was an instinctive, supercilious frown of ease in the impersonal glance she cast swiftly over the gaping crowd and rested ever so casually for an instant on a certain vexed face.

The young fellow threw back his head and laughed

The locomotive whistle was now sounding the four hoarse grunts that conventionally recall rear brakemen from their red-flag vigil. All around was the stir of departure. Up the steps the solitary traveller went, unfailing this time, guided and propelled by a professionally impatient black hand and a chivalrous white one.

She knew it was positively immoral to be set adrift this way by the earnest eyes of another woman's bridegroom. But immoral or not, she could not stop the strange, voiceless whispering in her inner consciousness of a coincidence between the mysterious scene of honeymoon that had gripped her imagination in this valley and the sturdy hands that had gripped her plunging body. However, what insane notions were racing through her mind? She felt her face burning and was glad to gain the haven of her seat, mid way down the green-carpeted aisle, safe from the curious eyes of the other passengers. She hoped there were no mild readers amongst them; her thoughts were so shamelessly wanting in respectability!

His eyes were—oh, she hoped the honeymooners would not sit near her. She told herself she really had no interest in where they were going to sit—wouldn't even look at first she thought to read, but printed words would offer scant anchorage to chain her glances down from her haunting eyes. She would take a nap.

So she squiggled down into a corner of the seat and resolutely closed her eyes, double-proofing them by covering them with the rim fingers of the arm she rested upon the window sill. It was easy enough to drowse here in the car warmed by the wine of late afternoon sunlight, with the desultory hum of voices inside and the muffled shouts outside. Even the long, last warning note of the locomotive was soothing. Above all, that feeling of being "at home" remained in her in a peaceful reverie. There came a gently accelerating sense of movement. She roused dozed

Spelling of Shoals Is Again Revived

(Associated Press)

SHEFFIELD, Ala., June 12—Mussel Shoals, Alabama's big government power project near here is improperly spelled, statements reaching here said.

Dr. J. W. Daniel, of Bamberg, S. C., considered an authority on folk lore, says that the proper way to spell the name in accordance with the Indian language is Mussel Shoals.

"No place name in the world," Dr. Daniel said, "has a better right to survive than Mussel Shoals. From time immemorial the Cherokee name for the Shoals was Da-ga-na-hi, from the Cherokee da-gu-na, ussel, and hi, locative, and therefore means Mussel place. The shoals were known by this name when white men first came in contact with the Cherokees. Let the old Cherokee name stand."

TRY A DAILY WANT AD

OVER-EXERTION CAUSES PHYSICAL HARM

Soft Frame Muscles and the Heart Should Not Be Overtaxed or the Stomach Harmed by Dubious Food or Drink.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. COPELAND.

SUMMER is here. Vacation time has arrived. Everybody is making plans for the greatest possible degree of pleasure before Labor Day ushers in a new year of hard work.

A vacation may be a good thing or a bad one. It all depends on how it is used. To a great extent its value depends on how it is begun.

Perhaps you were born on a farm, as I was. You wandered away to the city, but the smell of the clover gets into your nostrils. It makes you homesick for the old home. You rush back and find all hands at the haying or the harvest.

Forgetting that a year or two or five in the city has been a period long enough to weaken your muscles and heart, you go into the fields. Too proud to admit you are soft and unprepared for the work which used to be so easy, you tire your weakened muscles and perhaps seriously strain your heart. You keep at it for fear you will be laughed at by your country relatives.

This experience will do you such harm that it may be months before you are returned to normal condition. I beg of you to avoid this bad beginning of the Summer vacation.

Perhaps you enjoy an occasional game of tennis. The vacation period may tempt you to give over the first day to this attractive sport. In the broiling sun, regardless of fatigue and other handicaps, you keep at it for hours.

The next day your skin is swollen and inflamed. Your muscles are painful. You have a violent headache and a sensitive heart. It will take a week or more of your precious vacation to recover from the effects of the first few hours.

Other vacationists will fill their stomachs with ice cream, cold drinks, rich food and other things, desirable in moderate quantities, but harmful to those who overindulge. In consequence, if you do this, illness may be thrust upon you and several days of the vacation will be spent in bed.

Perhaps you will camp out or take an automobile tour. If you do either, make sure you drink no contaminated milk or water. Wayside springs may be dangerous. Uninspected milk supplies may be unhealthful.

If you are in doubt about the food, never eat it unless it has been cooked thoroughly. Cooking will destroy the germs of disease.

If you prize my advice you will give heed to the things you do and what you eat and drink. It is wise to exercise this care every day, but certainly it is a mark of real wisdom to bear these things in mind when you plan and take a vacation. If you will do this your playtime will be well spent.

Answers to Health Queries

M. V. Q.—What would you advise for a child of four who wakes up after being asleep for two hours or so and cries bitterly? Nothing seems to quiet her.

A.—This may be due to some intestinal condition. Be sure that her intestinal tract is kept clean and watch her diet very carefully. Do not allow her to eat before going to bed.

M. S. Q.—What do you advise for a drowsy feeling after luncheon? I do not eat heavily.

A.—Auto-intoxication is probably the cause of the symptom you describe. Watch your diet and be sure that the intestinal tract is kept clear. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

READER Q.—What causes a person to stutter and how may it be cured?

A.—Would diseased tonsils be responsible? There seems to be some obstruction in my throat which prevents proper speech.

A.—This is usually due to a nervous condition. Diseased tonsils would not be directly responsible, although they might cause a certain amount of nervousness, due to the poison seeping into the system from them. Have your doctor examine you and in this way definite treatment may be advised. An elocution teacher will probably help to correct the symptom to a great extent.

M. J. B. Q.—Can tuberculosis of the stomach glands, resulting from internal injuries, be entirely cured by operation? If it has extended to the lungs in a mild form as a result of overwork and a run-down condition, can it be cured? Would a life be liable to catch it and will possible children be liable to inherit it?

A.—In some instances, depending upon the extent and seriousness of the condition. Rest and proper care will bring about very satisfactory results in many cases. If germs are found in the sputum, there is a possibility of spreading the trouble. Possible children may have a tendency to the trouble although it is not inherited.

Mother and Son Hold Diplomas In The Same Class In Houston, County, Ala.

(Associated Press)

GORDON, Ala., June 12—Citizens of this community are priding themselves on two of their number, who occupy a rare position, a mother and son, both holders of high school diplomas on May 25, one of them was Mrs. Verna McLendon, and another was her son, George Virgil McLendon Jr.

Cases where mother and son, or daughter, receive college diplomas together have become frequent of late throughout the country, but this instance here of where mother and son received high school diplomas at the same time is said to be one of rare occurrence.

But in the case of Mrs. McLendon and son there are attached many other side issues of unusual note.

Both attended the Houston County high school at Columbia together for three years in the same class. Mrs. McLendon under the name of Lydia Tilley McLendon was vice president of the graduating class.

During the three years the pair were absent only once and then a storm swept away the bridge between their home and school.

Living in Gordon, there was ten miles to travel each school morning to Columbia and yet they were never late despite the fact that Mrs. McLendon had two younger children to get off to school there and all of the housework to do.

Throughout the years she kept up a good average in her studies. Professor D. J. Thompson, principal of the Houston County high school, in his talk at commencement exercises, lauded her record in school and her undertaking to extend her education when she was old enough to have a son with whom she could attend school.

But now the boy will forge ahead of his mother in education, for next year he will go to Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., where he will study for the ministry. At first they had planned to go there together, but they found that this would be impossible. But the boy will carry with him the inspiration of his courageous mother even though he cannot have her with him in person.

BAPTISTS RETURN FROM ASSEMBLY

Meeting Success Given To R. Elton Johnson, State Secretary

Between sixty and seventy people are returning today from Mentons where they attended the B. Y. P. U. assembly held at that point from Sunday through Friday night. The success of the meeting, at which 500 Alabamians were present, was attributed to the careful preparation and interest of R. Elton Johnson, state secretary of the B. Y. P. U.

The meeting was addressed each morning by Dr. J. L. Hill, Nashville and each evening by Dr. J. Powell Tucker, Selma, the latter is well known locally. Returning today from the convention, Rev. E. Floyd Olive declared it one of the most inspirational events he had ever attended. He spoke of the sunset service at Inspiration Point, on the brow of Lookout Mountain. He declared this service to have struck a deep religious chord in the hearts of attendants.

Rev. Olive spoke in pleasing terms of the efforts of Mr. Johnson, Albany boy now state secretary. The minister believed the success of the meeting due to the energy and ability of young Johnson.

Revival Continues Through Sunday

Dr. J. R. Crawford pastor of the Presbyterian church, Athens, who has been holding special services at the Westside Presbyterian church, for the past two weeks, left last night for home. However the revival meetings will be continued over Sunday by the pastor, Rev. T. G. Henry.

Dr. Crawford will be long remembered in Albany for his work here and for his fine stand for the fundamentals of Christianity. The interest shown in the services Friday was the greatest of the entire series.

Two Persons Dead Resisting Robbery

(Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 12.—A man and a woman were killed and another woman probably was wounded fatally by four armed robbers, who made an unsuccessful attempt today to make off with the week's payroll in the offices of the Sunglo company, wholesale importers, in West 13th street.

Josephine Defrari, 20, and Samuel Winterbottom, 50, were killed and Elizabeth Schumacher was injured seriously. There were about 25 persons in the office when the robbers appeared, with drawn revolvers, and ordered that all hold up their hands. No one obeyed and the robbers opened fire and then fled.

Girl Carried To Sea Finally Rescued

(Associated Press)
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 12.—Miss Sven Bohman, 27, of New York City, believed to have been drowned off-shore here late yesterday in attempting to save an unidentified man from drowning, returned here shortly after noon today after being rescued in the gulf stream.

Miss Bohman, while in the surf, responded to the cry of a man in distress almost a mile from shore. Miss Bohman, in returning here, said that she was carried out to sea after failing to reach the man and soon developed cramps which prevented her from swimming back to shore.

She said that darkness found her floating in the gulf stream, beyond sight of land and that for five hours she swam and floated in the current before being rescued by a passing fishing craft, which proceeded with her to Fort Lauderdale, Fla. She appeared little worse for her experience.

Miss Bohman came here several months ago from New York city, where she resided with her brother, Niles Bohman.

John Bowen Here To Find Writer

John Bowen, Eva resident, who requested the Daily, several weeks ago, to help him find a wife, was in the Twin Cities today attempting to locate the address of a young woman he said he had received a letter from.

Mr. Bowen declared he had received a number of replies in response to his appeal. At the time of his initial request for publicity he voiced a desire for a "blonde, not too big." He has not made public any change of heart.

declaration that "If Mr. McDowell is elected, a bridge will be built here." Such propaganda is not only deceptive and false, but is a reflection upon the intelligence of the people of this state, which should be resented by the voters.

Mr. Patterson asks the question, "Do the people know who is paying the expense of all this propaganda and the expenses of Mr. Rogers and his cohorts who are honeycombing the state endeavoring to fool the people?" The people's money is being flagrantly wasted by the employment of surveying parties to make surveys for roads which will never be built.

Mr. Patterson then presented with much earnestness and force his "Pay as you go" plan for continuing highway construction in Alabama. He showed that the sum of $32,590,229.61 would be available from a 3c gas tax, federal aid, miscellaneous receipts and convict labor for road construction in Alabama during the next four years. He showed an unexpended balance from the $25,000,000.00 bond issue of $7,000,000.00, and a balance due the state from the federal government, unallocated, of two million dollars. Adding this to the total, he declared that there would be available for road construction alone in Alabama during the next four and one-half years the sum of $41,590,229.61. This, Mr. Patterson declared, did not take into account the auto tag tax, which he said should be used exclusively to keep up the roads built and to be built, and to pay the interest and retire the $25,000,000.00 bonded debt. The total of all these figures shows that there will be available for roads in Alabama during the next four and one-half years the sum of $57,148,591.59.

Mr. Patterson argued with great force in favor of the "Pay as you go" plan for continuing road building in Alabama, as against the bonded debt plan now being advocated by Chairman Rogers and echoed by Chas. McDowell. He declared that he was the only candidate for governor not definitely committed to the "bonded debt plan" for building roads. Each of his other opponents were committed to a bond issue of thirty-five million and twenty-five million dollars. Mr. Patterson declared that a reactionary press was championing the election of Mr. McDowell and the "Rogers-Brandon-McDowell" seventy-five million dollar bonded debt plan for road construction and had deliberately misrepresented his position upon this issue. He declared that he had never at any time committed himself to any increase of Alabama's bonded debt for road building. Before committing himself definitely to a road program, he employed the Chairman of the State Board of Accountancy to make an examination of the records in the Highway Department and other state departments to secure information and data upon which to formulate a road building program. As soon as this information and data was secured, Mr. Patterson said he declared himself emphatically in favor of the "Pay as you go" plan now being so successfully employed by the states of Virginia, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Louisiana and Florida. Each of these states has refused to place a bonded debt upon the resources of their states, but are carrying forward a road building program, using the gas tax and convict labor to build their roads.

Stores of Huntsville are closing on Thursday afternoon by an agreement between the managers. This will continue throughout the summer.

Eddie Rickenbacker, American ace, will be one of the speakers at the Georgia American Legion convention. Let us hope he doesn't talk as fast as he drives.

Milton Stock, offered $9,000 a year to play with Brooklyn in the major leagues, held out for $12,000, was released and later signed with Mobile, in the minors, for about $5,000. He drew the expected panning. Now he has been made manager of the Mobile club and, for all we know, may buy an interest in the club. People are not always the chumps we give them credit for being.

Harry Walker, editor of the Limestone Democrat, has an eye for business. Hugo Black wrote Mr. Walker, stating the latter had published a charge by Mr. Bankhead that Mr. Black had property worth considerable money in Birmingham. Mr. Black offered to sell the property to Mr. Bankhead at exactly half of what the latter said it was worth. Editor Walker, who engages in the real estate business as well as newspaper game, asked to be the agent handling the transfer. That is business sagacity uncommon in editorial minds.

MAYOR'S CONVENTION AT FAIRFIELD SHOULD BE PRODUCTIVE OF GOOD

The conference of Alabama mayors, held this week in Fairfield, should be productive of much good to Alabama municipalities. The problems of every city, in many respects are similar. The administration of public affairs is no mean task. The public is a hard task-master. Yet officials, frequently without previous experience, are expected to make good in a surrounding with which they are not always familiar.

With this in mind, it is reasonable to suppose that municipal executives, meeting in open forum, can gain much knowledge of benefit to their municipalities by gathering information from the experiences of others.

The mayors association is a comparatively new thing in Alabama, but in its short period of existence, it has made rapid headway and a goodly number of mayors gathered at the Fairfield meeting. A still larger number probably will meet in Anniston at the next session.

Giving of real study to the science of government too long has been deferred in America, and The Daily submits that it is a healthy sign, when executives meet to discuss with one another the perplexities of administration of public affairs.

KILBY-BANKHEAD DEBATES PROVING OF GREAT INTEREST TO THE VOTERS

When announcement was made of the plans for the series of joint debates between Thomas E. Kilby, of Anniston, and John H. Bankhead, of Jasper, senatorial candidates, the manager of one of the other candidates issued a statement decrying the importance of the meeting. At the time The Daily took issue with the latter statement and insisted that the debates would prove of very great interest.

The Daily believes that the interest displayed in the opening of the debates in Florence Thursday fully sustained the claims of this newspaper. One indication of the interest was the fact that the greater part of the daily press of Alabama carried full reports on the highlights of the platform meeting, many newspapers outside of the state printed news of the event, and scores of individuals called this newspaper, and no doubt others, asking for information about the oratorical contests, evidencing on the part of the public a deep interest in them.

At the second debate, the Associated Press report stated "the theatre was jammed." The Daily does not know the seating capacity of the auditorium in question, but it bears out the prediction made by one of the candidates several days ago that "no auditorium in the Tri-Cities will be able to accommodate all of those who will want to hear our discussion."

Judge McCord, ordinarily a sagacious political observer, missed his guess when he declared the debates would not be interesting to the people of the state.

NATIONAL JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL BE GUESTS OF CITIES ON JUNE 21

On June 21, Albany-Decatur will have as guests of this community a distinguished body of young men in the persons of members of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, and later will go to Wilson Dam and other sections of the Shoals district. Early in the afternoon they will leave for Birmingham, where they will go on an industrial tour of the various plants there.

Albany-Decatur citizens should be proud of the distinction given these cities by their selection as one of the two stop-over points in the entire state. There is important significance to their stop here. We are not so immodest as to believe that these young men will have their train stopped here merely because they would enjoy the beauties of our cities, great as the latter might be as an attractive inducement.

In all frankness, it must be admitted that they are stopping here because they want to see what the Muscle Shoals district is like. Isn't it a compliment to our transportation facilities, however, that it becomes necessary for them to stop here IN ORDER TO GET TO MUSCLE SHOALS? The Twin Cities have been called, and very fittingly, the gateway to Alabama. This community also is the gateway to Muscle Shoals and visitors from the east and west must be impressed with this fact.

LAFAYETTE EDITOR DISCUSSES ACTION OF PRESS ASSOCIATION WITH COMMON SENSE

Since the Alabama Press Association, in recent meeting in Auburn, took occasion to adopt resolutions praising the work of the Alabama Power company in Alabama, and is reported to have sought to "censure" certain other Alabama newspapers for their editorial utterances, much has been printed about the matter. Diverse views have been expressed by the editors of the state, but, in the opinion of The Daily, the utterance of Editor Walton, of the Lafayette Sun, probably contains the maximum of commonsense.

The Sun states: Whatever else might be said about the editors' convention in Auburn last week, it might well be said that those fellows who did attend had a terrible big time. From the daily press we learn of some recommendations and resolutions that were passed at the convention by some twenty editors out of a possible 142. We do not know the conditions under which these resolutions were passed, and up to the present time we have not worried at any great length about it, but our position is that we were not in attendance at the convention, much to our regret, and no one was authorized to vote for us by proxy. We might have done worse had we been there, but the point that we wish to make is that just a few editors representing a small number of the county papers committed the Alabama Press Association to certain measures which we feel would not receive endorsement from the full vote of the editors of the state. We do not take exceptions to anything that was said or done at this convention, but we feel that measures which do not affect vitally the association should not be brought before the body. We feel that the editors of the state should avoid the appearances of civil and cut short the political schemes that yearly creep into the body.

The Daily is not cognizant of the details of the adoption of the resolutions in question, but 20 editors of a possible 142, is a very small percentage to speak in behalf of the newspapers of Alabama.

There is this to be said, however. Those editors who remained at home are responsible for that small ratio. The stay-at-homes could have gone to Auburn had they wanted to. Those who attended cannot be blamed for that condition of affairs.

It is unfortunate that the Auburn meeting so fit to adopt resolutions on which there might be a division of editorial opinion. It seems also that the editors could have done better for the Association than to "resolve" on things outside of the work of the Association. The Alabama Power company has done much work for Alabama, but the power company also has done some things that many editors do not consider beneficial to the people of this state. Just why it was considered necessary for the press association to adopt any resolutions whatever on this score is not entirely clear. Neither is the reason apparent why the association thought it wise to "censure" the editorial policy of any Alabama newspaper. All of these things may be made known in time, but just now the atmosphere is foggy.

The attitude of the Sun, that no one has the right to speak for it, probably is shared by many other newspapers. Certainly, it is by The Daily.

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS for the Sabbath and Other Days

(By J. E. Blair)

Dr. Charles R. Holder, of Bessemer, told the pastor's union of Birmingham Monday that John Burroughs, the famous naturalist, declared that China came nearer practicing Christianity than America. Dr. Holder said he thought Burroughs' opinion was worthy of very serious consideration. John Burroughs was looking in. He was like a man with a stop watch, counting the number of people who pass a certain business corner per hour. Besides, Mr. Burroughs knew the Christian program as well as anybody. Did the Chinese people ever sell human beings as slaves? We did. The Chinese people might eat opium to sooth away their pains of mind and body, but did they ever establish an opium trade? At the King Joy cafeteria in Birmingham, it is said a Chinaman sold "booze," but who taught him to do so, if he did? We denounce idols; but what is one individual sacrificed to a heathen god, to the 40,000,000 sent to death or physical ruin by Christians who led on the recent world war? Dr. Holder told the pastors that until it was shown that Christ Himself employed force to attain His ends, His followers dare not enter a war. Of course one pastor whispered apropos of that statement by Holder that "the U. S. government would go, in an hour if such a non-resistance doctrine prevailed." But what are you going to do about it—take the prophecy of the preacher or disregard the example of the Master? A negro did a very un-Christian thing Tuesday morning. He pulled off a mule shoe and left the shoe nails and all, where on-coming autos would be sure to be damaged. Well, you say the negro was in a hurry and did not think. There is just the point. Christ demands that we DO THINK. He utters that soul-stirring statement—"Not every one that saith 'Lord, Lord' shall enter, but he that doeth My will. Now thought must originate action, and if we "just don't think" we are SURE not to do God's will. Here is the probable way things will end with the "non-thinkers," the mighty judge of all the earth will say in effect, "You might be a very well intending person, but I cannot use you, you have not learned to do the will of God, although you had a life time to learn it in!"

which they believe, but that would not keep them awake. Gambling will keep them awake, and what is true of those far-off Korean pallbearers is true of ninety per cent of human beings.

SPEAKING of gambling, it was a cheerful day in Wall Street Wednesday, with money cheap, prices strong, and very enthusiastic buying of "Big Steel." Somebody bought nearly 190,000 shares of steel, paying twenty-five million dollars for it. The time for short selling isn't in sight.

IN CONSIDERING the victory of Brookhart over Cummins, administration republicans will not overlook one important fact. Mr. Cummins voted to push the United States into the world court, where it had no business. Mr. Brookhart voted to keep the United States out of the world court.

Senator McKinley voted for the world court, and was beaten in Illinois by a record vote of 150,000 and by Frank L. Smith who ran exclusively on an anti-world court platform. In Indiana, Watson and Robinson, against the world court, won by majorities of 150,000 and 65,000.

IN PENNSYLVANIA Senator Pepper, who voted for the world court was beaten by 100,000 votes, and in Oregon Senator Stanchfield, also for the world court, was beaten.

Perhaps the republican administration now believes that the people of the United States are really not in favor of a world court, not in favor of mixing Uncle Sam in the affairs of submitting matters important to this nation to European tribunals.

ONCE a million sounded big, a hundred million inspired awe. Now the New York Central railroad, consolidating subsidiaries, raises its capital stock from $400,000,000 to $500,000,000 and it is just a little "financial adjustment."

THERE are 2,720,000 on the unemployment lists in Britain, including miners on strike against reduction in wages. Conservative Americans tell you so many Brits are idle because Britains pays a "dole," enough to keep body and soul together to those out of work. British statesmanship is wise enough to realize that you can't let men starve, especially when they have just returned from fighting for their country.

THE Mexican government seizes a Canadian ship loaded with rum bound for California, saying: "Mexico must help the United States to prevent rum running." At the same time Mexican authorities close three Catholic churches in the cities of Frontera, Morelia and Jalapa. One is closed for political reasons, two because they are "in excess of the number of church permitted in the locality." It is easier to begin regulating religion than to predict where regulation will end.

SENATOR WADSWORTH, coming up for re-election, advocated a repeal of eighteenth amendment and government sale of liquor, on the Quebec plan, in states that desire it.

Dry republicans will make an independent senatorial nomination against Mr. Wadsworth.

With a wet democrat, a wet republican and a dry independent republican running, New York's senatorial contest this fall will be lightning.

Mellon Becomes State Chairman

(Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA June 10.—William M. Mellon, nephew of the secretary of the treasury, was elected chairman of the republican state committee today in succession to W. Harry Baker of Harrisburg.

Mr. Baker was elected secretary, a position he held for years before he was elevated to the chairmanship, four years ago.

A last minute agreement to avoid a fight and so go into the fall campaign with a united front resulted in the election of Mr. Mellon to the chairmanship.

PARTY FOR BETTY McGEHEE

One of the prettiest of the parties given for the little tots was that given by Mrs. John McGehee this week for her little daughter Betty on her third birthday. The home was prettily decorated in pink and white, large bouquets of flowers and streamers of pink ribbons adding to the attractiveness of the home.

Many games were played but the feature was the fish pond out of which each little guest "caught" a top.

During the afternoon, Mrs. McGehee served refreshing fruit punch and later the kiddies were grouped around the table and were served ice cream cones and cake. The pink birthday cake was the central ornament on the table and directly over this was the pink shaded chandelier from which streamers extended to the sides of the table.

Betty is loved by all of her little playmates as was shown by the lovely gifts that were showered on her by the guests including Mary Penick, Jones, James Nelson Bloodworth, Virginia Claire Bailey, Mary Katherine Nungester, Warden and Pruitt Cartwright, Foster Bailey Pointer, Joe Calvin, Frances Cowden, Jane Malone George Homer and Mary Ellen Smith Betty Foster Pointer Constance Pearson, Margaret Jacks, Dorothy Ann Parks, Doris and Carlisle Gardner, Evelyn, Eleanor and Charles Green, John Wyker, Leroy McEntire, Nancy Worth and Caroline Jones, Ann Frances Harris, Reed Rogers, Jr., Martha Frances Kilgore, Margaret Ann Rogers, Frank Malcolm Martin, Rebecca and Martha Frances Pettay, Peggy and Paul Brown, Harriett and Rebecca Lide, Virginia Prince Calvin, Ann Kimbrough, Bill Nelson, Hodges, Marion and Virginia Bingham, Dorothy Prosser, Nell Beach Dix, Richard Coffee, Jr., Estelle Hendrix, Ann Tyler, John D. Beauties of the Sea

By Juanita Hamel

HOW many times have you stood on the golden sands and marveled at the beauties which the sea reveals? The blue that reflects the glory of the brilliant Summer skies; the frothy, dancing foam of the white-topped breakers; the little ripples that flirt with the sands!

But more lovely than all these is the Summer Girl, truly the queen of Neptune's domain during these wonderful months! She reigns supreme over all the other beauties, which fade beneath the glory of her wonderful joyousness and buoyant charm. Her reign is short and she knows it and makes the most of it.

So here's the best of luck, little Summer Girl. May you find the joy and happiness of the Love which you are seeking and are sure to find when you are crowned queen of His heart.

ROOK CLUB MEETING

Mr. Fred Sheets was a lovely hostess of Friday entertaining the C-Lek Rook Club at her attractive new home on Fifth avenue West. Helpful Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and in love with two young men. They both are as nice as they can be. How can I tell which one I love best?

RILEY BABY: If you feel that you are in love with both these young men, then it is a very safe bet to say that you are not in love at all. Love is much too single-minded an emotion to be scattered. My dear, probably you are fond of these young men as friends and admire them sincerely, but as for love, it has not come your way yet. Consequently there is no need for you to let it trouble you. Continue these delightful friendships and forget about love until it "strikes" you hard!

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in my teens. A young man has been attentive to me, but I just don't like him much. He is a man of good character and I'd like to become fond of him.

How can I do this? BILLIE: I can appreciate your sentiments when you say you would "like to like" this young man, Billie. But if you just don't—why, there all there is to it. Go about with the people whom you find congenial—and don't worry

SICK HEADACHE
No Pleasure, Says Ohio Lady, to Go Places, Till She Took Black-Draught Which Brought Relief.

Langsville, Ohio.—"For years and years I suffered with severe headache," says Mrs. Jane Campbell, of this place. "It wasn't any pleasure for me to go places, for I came home with sick headache. If I went to church or to any social gathering or to town to shop, when I got back I would have these headaches and have to go to bed for a day or more, till I would just get out of heart and would not try to go. "About 15 years ago I discovered that Black-Draught was good for these headaches. I began using it. I would take it two or three nights in succession if I felt the least bad, and it sure did wonders for me. It is about 14 years since I had sick headaches, and I can go places and really enjoy life. It surely is splendid."

Headache often is a symptom of constipation. The best relief is secured by treating the cause of the trouble and in such a case many people have been greatly helped by the use of Theford's Black-Draught.

Purely vegetable. Recommended for young and old. No harmful after effects. Sold everywhere. NC-169

You're so dumb you think a pipe dream is a plumber's nightmare.

Blow along with the rest of the wind.

At the bathing beaches the rule of the girls seem to be "to slip on a little and the rest remains to be seen."

After kissing a girl it is hard to realize she uses the same lips for eating purposes.

The Man Behind the Smile
I don't know how he is on creeds,
I never heard him say;
But he's got a smile that fits his face
And he wears it every day.
If things go wrong he won't complain
Just tries to see the joke;
He's always finding little ways
Of helping other folk.

He sees the good in everyone
Their faults he never mentions;
He has a lot of confidence
In people's good intentions.
You soon forget what ails you
When you happen 'round this man,
He can cure a case of hypo
Quicker than the doctor can.

No matter if the sky is gray,
You get his point of view;
And the clouds begin to scatter,
And the sun comes breaking through
You'll know him if you meet him,
And you'll find it worth your while
To cultivate the friendship of
The "Man Behind the Smile."

Short—"I say, old man, can you lend me a fiver?"
Long—"Impossible. I've tried to lend you money several times, but always seem to look upon it as a gift."

There's a regular time for a girl's coming out, but nobody knows when she'll come in.

Three O'clock in the Morning
Officer: What are you doing here at this hour?

Stranger: I forgot my key, officer and I'm waiting for the children to come home and let me in.

Wondering Where Good Roads Gone

"I wonder where the good roads in Morgan county are gone?" asked J. M. Hatfield, Daily Circulation chief returning today from a week's visit into the rural sections of this county. "Yesterday, I was on Danville Route 1 and drove all day in mud up to the axles of my car," said Mr. Hatfield. The circulation manager declares that he has not been on a decent county road since he started the circulation drive this summer.

It is supposed the company seeks the funds to make improvements of its system in this state.

Pepper Wallops Appl eAs Aliceville Defeats Elrod In Thrilling Envounter

Raymond Pepper who has selected Aliceville, Ala., as the scene of his summery baseball antics came in for praise yesterday when he drove out three hits against Elrod, one of the blows going for a trio of sacks. Peppers was busy all afternoon, playing first base he accepted 18 chances without a bobble. With the score at 5-3 in the eighth inning Aliceville overwhelmed Elrod with a rally that netted some 10 tallies.

Practically an entire University of Alabama team is playing at Aliceville, Pepper being among the University lads who have accepted the summer offer.

Memphis managed a 14-4 win over the Barons yesterday. Troubles seemed to run in pairs for the Barons as the Pels were chaging the Vols to a like tune of 14-4, placing New Orleans far above the maddening crowd. The Barons rest in second place some four and a half games from the league leaders. Confidentially, the Barons blew up yesterday, contributing 10 errors for the afternoon's play. Perhaps they got rid of their ascension ceremonies and will get back into the fighting pose today to stop the onslaught of Clyde Milan's troop of Chickasaws. The Lookouts dropped one to the Bears 2-1. Eddie Lewis scoring the only Lookout counter in the first inning after he had garnered his usual double.

Coming back much stronger than they went away from the lead a few days ago, the Cincinnati Reds further entrenched themselves in first place yesterday while the Pirates were dropping a slugfest to the Phils 13-11. Cincinnati defeated Brooklyn 8-6 in 12 innings when Rube Bressler hit for three sacks with two aboard. The Chicago Cub stopped the Brave streak 7-6. St. Louis again annihilated Giant hopes with a 10-2 win.

In the American league the Yanks continued to pile up the lead they have held since that memorable day they began their 16 game stretch of victories. The Yanks garnered 18 hits to defeat the Detroit Tigers 9-3. Babe Ruth hit once, but his batting average took a tumble. The St. Louis Browns stopped Boston in ten innings 4-3. Both clubs rallied in the 10th, but McManus single with the bases filled brought St. Louis the honor.

Additional traffic lights are to be added to the system at Montgomery. These will be on several congested corners.
